

The Lil Spill

By Liliana Lovell,
Coyote Ugly Saloon Founder

Saturday, January 19, 2008

I was just informed by Jackson's friend, whom is a tad overweight, that he is not allowed to eat shrimp because it is high in cholesterol. It's funny but when I said that we were having smores after dinner, he was not concerned about the cholesterol content! It's nice being home.

posted by Liliana @ 11:39 PM

I feel so much better now that I am home!!

The last week was rough but the wrap party was awesome! We had so much fun. I get really emotional at the finals because I feel bad about picking the winner so it was nice to have such a fun party afterwards with the crew. When I get some pictures from Scott the line producer I will post them. I think this season is going to be the best yet. I was definitely more calm this year which translated to a much happier experience. I want to give a special shout out to the Denver staff for being so wonderful during the filming, I know it can be a pain in the ass.

The final week one of the girls won a makeover that included eyelash extensions. I said to the producer " what am I chopped liver? You can't get me eyelash extensions?" Ask and you shall receive. Christy Malles came to my hotel and did a beautiful job on my eyelashes. Thank you!!!

posted by Liliana @ 7:42 PM

COYOTE FOUNDER