Description:

I am the writer as a chief of auFeminin.com. And as I left to cover the event of the Festival of Cannes, I decided to make you share my emotions and of living on line with you my "cinema". Attention, that turns (the head especially). Engine...

Blog AuFeminin Special Festival of Cannes

My eye! Created on May 19 with 0:40

The innovation in Cannes, it is the "gift room". On invitation obviously and reserved to the stars and for the happy few. The idea developed at the point in the USA by Nathalie Dubois who has prevailed for a few years already with the Oscar Awards, it is a place where some prestigious marks (or less) gather, to give full with free gifts the stars to thank them for having moved. Perhaps like that, they will carry these scratched gifts all while making some promotion indirectly

It appears that in the USA, the stars adore that: between two interviews they like that small gâteries are offered to them, that gives the impression to them to make shopping gratis. After all, it there not of small profit!

What fascinated me in this operation it is the side "lucky bag" of the phenomenon.

And the trick which intrigued me, they are the extensions of lashes, the next madness which comes us from In addition to the Atlantic. The principle: it is as for the hair: one makes you an eye of hind by sticking lashes to you to the natural aspect. In alternative, one can add to it small crystals, history to seem to have fun the festival by having your breakfast... Was necessary to think of it, I declined the installation gratis for myself. But I give you the pipe: those which want to have long bent lashes, natural super effect and without putting will mascara which runs, soon will be able to pass to the extensions of lashes (mark Extreme Lashes). But then attention it will not be with the eye: it is not tous.les.jours Sunday!
