

friends forever! I graduated in: 1996 1986 1976 1966 classmates.com

THE ENVELOPE | THE AWARDS INSIDER

FROM THE LOS ANGELES TIMES

▶ BACK TO LATIMES.COM

HOME NEWS BUZZ AWARDS SHOWS FACTS & DATES GALLERIES FORUMS

Gold Derby | Styles & Scenes | Kudos Crasher | Contender Q & A | Buzzmeter | Road to Gold Game

SEARCH

AWARDS DATABASE
 All of the winners, all of the nominees, all of the awards shows.

All

THE ENVELOPE PRESENTS
THE ROAD TO GOLD
 THE ULTIMATE AWARDS POOL
 PLAY & WIN

UP NEXT

March 26
 • GLAAD Media Awards, New York

March 31
 • Kids Choice Awards

April 1
 • Juno Awards

GOLD DERBY

BY TOM O'NEIL
 Ellen Burstyn's Emmy infamy

Styles & Scenes by Elizabeth Snead

« Previous Posts

« What's wrong with Kirsten? | Main | How will Sarah shock at the Indie Spirits? »

Oscar-going stars lash out!

How does an actress get noticed at the Oscars? She does what 99% of Hollywood actresses - including Jennifer Hudson and Beyonce - did this week: lay on their backs for an hour with their eyes shut tight. I know what you're thinking, dirty minds. But it's not like that.

Here's Anika Noni Rose, taking it laying down at the Frederick Fekkai Beverly Hills salon, getting Xtreme Lashes glued on. The lashes are said to last a month or more, depending on how much you shower, swim or cry. The process, which takes roughly an hour requires that you lie still with your eyes closed while a trained professional, looking through a high-powered jeweler's glass, glues miniscule hairs to your own lashes. The Xtreme lashes were the most popular beauty treatment this week at Fekkai, ranking above mani-pedis and blow-outs. But be careful, Anika. No tears of joy - or sorrow - on Sunday night.

Photo Credits: Stefanie Keenan/Patrick McMullan Photography

Posted by ESNEAD on February 24, 2007 in frederic fekkai salon, xtreme lashes, anika noni rose, oscar beauty | Permalink | Email this post

Comments

ADVERTISEMENT

Find Your Graduating Class

I Graduated in:

1996 1986 1976 1966 1956

classmates.com