

Countdown to 'I Do': Part 5

Pamela Edwards, beauty editor of ESSENCE magazine, here with my very last installment of Countdown to "I Do." I literally have four days until my long-awaited walk down the aisle. My main objectives this final week are to save as much time and money as possible without sacrificing too much of my wedding vision and not becoming a bridezilla.

So, here's what I've been up to...

13/20

PREV NEXT

Lash Out

I only have one beauty stipulation—individual lashes. They're so glamorous and look better than the strips. Here I am receiving my individual lash extensions with XTreme Lashes. They'll last about a month and I now don't have to worry about a lot of eye makeup on the big day.